

Privacy & Refund Policy

North Carolina Telecommunications Industry Association Website
July 5, 2006

The North Carolina Telecommunications Industry Association (NCTIA) is well aware of your concern about the privacy and use of any personal information. With this in mind, we have created the following General Privacy & Refund Policy.

NCTIA's General Privacy Policy

Information Collected

NCTIA will only collect information from its membership that is voluntarily submitted to us.

NCTIA's Website; www.nctia.org will not require a visitor to disclose more information than is reasonable necessary to participate in an activity on the Site as a condition of such participation.

As with most Websites, certain non-personal identifiable information is recorded by standard operation of our server. Such information may include: the name of the ISP from which a visitor accesses the internet, the date and time a visitor entered our Site and where the visitor goes after leaving this Site. This information may be used to measure and monitor the use of our site and to improve its content. Data, which would personally identify a visitor, is known only when voluntarily submitted.

Cookies

Cookies are small pieces of information stored on our computer which may be used to access information relating to your past use of the Site. NCTIA through its Website does not currently use "cookie technology". However, we may use an outside advertising company to display advertisements on our Site. This may include the links to some of our various supporters or contributors who, among other things, makes this Site possible. These outside companies may use cookies. These companies may receive and use cookies placed by certain links displayed on our Site. NCTIA does not have access to information that would confirm the use of cookies by these companies. Most Internet browsers include preference settings that allow visitors to be notified, and control whether cookies are transferred to their computers. Please review your browser's documentation or "help" feature for more information on that functionality.

Security

The NCTIA Website uses industry standard security measurers to protect against loss, misuse and alteration of the information under our control. While there is not such thing as "Perfect Security" on the Internet, we will try our best to make sure that your transmissions to and from this Site are kept secure.

Encryption

The NCTIA Website, www.nctia.org, is NOT a secured Site. As such, NCTIA DOES NOT RECOMMEND users to provide over this Site, specific financial information such as bank account numbers, Credit Card numbers, etc. except though our secured payment transaction vendor, authorize.net. Any users wishing to join NCTIA and would like to use this Site as a vehicle to facilitate your membership, we ask that you simply provide your name and contact information so that we may contact you, to facilitate your membership in a more personal, and traditional method.

Other Websites and Links found on this Site

The content of NCTIA is designed for business and personal use. In addition to our own content, we also provide links to various other Internet locations for a variety of reasons. We are not responsible for the privacy of those other Sites.

NCTIA Refund Policy

For NCTIA event registration, substitute attendees are allowed if notification is provided 4 business days prior to the event. In lieu of refunds, credit towards future NCTIA events or sponsorships may be applied.

Thank you for your visit to the North Carolina Telecommunications Industry Association Website.
